AUBURN, Ala.—Farmers having on hand excess peanuts from their 1941 crop may sell them penalty-free to neighbors under a plan devised by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to insure better distribution of seed. It is necessary for those selling under this plan to clear the transaction through their County A.A.A. office. Seed obtained by this method must be used only for planting peanuts for oil.

Amateur Weather Seers Now Have Day

Grandpa's 'Rheumatiz' May Be Valuable!

WASHINGTON—With the daily maps and forecasts by the U. S. weather bureau suspended "for duration," except in a very limited way that will give no aid or comfort to the enemy, local weather prophets may be expected to come into their own. For it may be taken as assured that people aren't going to stop talking about the weather. There is, of course, good reason for the "blackouts" of the daily weather maps and reports. Back of the old jingle, "red in the night, sailors' delight; red in the morning, sailors' curse," there is the truth that bright sunsets usually come during periods of settled weather, while a reddened sun (at any time of day) indicates the presence of moisture-laden particles in the air that may later precipitate rain or snow. Even at sunset, a bluish reddened sun disc, tinged with red, indicates a clearing sky, while a reddened sun (at any time of day) indicates the presence of moisture-laden particles in the air that may later precipitate rain or snow. Even at sunset, a bluish reddened sun disc, tinged with red, indicates a clearing sky, while a reddened sun (at any time of day) indicates the presence of moisture-laden particles in the air that may later precipitate rain or snow.

A ring around the moon, or a halo, is to be academically precise, a halo, is an optical fairly dependable weather "sign." So is a hazy or blue appearance of moon or stars. These appearances are due to the interference of light by thin clouds running along the horizon of an approaching storm area.

It is, however, no truth in the belief that the crescent moon "holds" rain if it horns are pointed upward. "Young" rain if they point down. The same holds true for the position of the "bow" of the Great Dipper as seen early in the evening.

Weather Helped Japanese Attack, Says Scientist

DALLAS—The Japs struck in the Philippines at the favorable season for naval and air operations, Dr. H. Landsberg of the University of Chicago, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science. All the rest of this winter will be good for attacks, until the typhoon season starts next summer, he said. Other points he made were: "You can't have a weather paradox in the present fighting zones. In northern Luzon, where heavy fighting goes on, the present is a bad season for air operation on account of heavy rains. "You can't have a weather paradox in the present fighting zones. Papa Is Out $10, but Son Regains His Speech

RICHMOND, Va.—"Papa" burst out of his bed on Sunday morning, at 10:30, and he drove toward home with his mother and dad. The boy repeated himself almost painfully, and for good measure added a few more words. The conversation was easily understood. Canadian Girl Commutes To Washington School

DEMING, WASH.—Thomasa Earl, 14, commutes to school internationally, by special permission of the United States Immigration authorities. She walks a few hundred yards from her home on the Canadian side to the border, where she catches a Denning school bus. She had to get a passport and is not allowed to travel farther south than the school. She adopted the plan because the nearest Canadian school is much too far to attend regularly, and because the Denning school is convenient.

Four Wallflowers Picket Soldiers and Get Results

CHAMPAIGN, ILL.—Four Cinderellas from nearby Champaign were the unhappiest girls at a military dance. They stood, sadly neglected, while a platoon of troopers sat on the sidelines and paid them no heed. So the young ladies took lipstick in hand, scrawled "Wallflower" on cardboard squares, held the signs high and proceeded to picket the sedentary soldiers. The response was immediate and overwhelming. The picketers became the belles of the ball.

PROTECT YOUNG CALVES BY PREVENTING SCOURS

AUBURN, Ala.—A couple of lay eggs or a cup of strong coffee may be helpful as supportive therapy for calf scours, but nowadays, when every calf counts in the Food-for-Freedom program, prevention is much more important than cure, says F. W. Burns, extension dairyman. Mr. Burns points out that calves fed damaged feed, sour milk from dirty cans, skim milk from a dirty creamery skim milk vat, or skim milk hauled warm and exposed to the sun in unclean buckets may cause the disease.

Best prevention is to protect calves from cold and dampness, keep them in clean, disinfected stalls, provide clean milk and feed in clean buckets, and don't overfeed. If diarrhea does develop, two raw eggs or a cup of strong coffee will often provide relief. Services of a veterinarian are required for specific treatment.

For the second year, Robert Martin, Dallas County, exhibited the grand champion calf at the Montgomery fair stock show. Mary Alice Whitley, Autauga County, exhibited the reserve champion. Both were Angus steers.

COFFEE FARMERS WILL RAISE MORE, BETTER HOGS

More hogs, better hogs, yes, more food for victory in 1942. This is what vocational agriculture boys in the New Hope community and men at Mison's Cross Roads have been getting ready for during the last few days. At New Hope Mayor Dwyer has added to his hog project a pure bred Duroc boar and gilt, and Ralph Renfro and Bill Daugherty bought pure bred Poland China boars and gilts. These boys expect to be well established in the hog business by the time they finish high school. The following men at Mison's Cross Roads purchased pure bred hogs last week: C. M. Mison, P. C. Coar, H. L. Nolin, Duroc boar, and C. H. Mosley, Duroc gilt. These men are going to improve and increase their hogs this year by using pure bred boars and sows.

JEWEL PADGETTE WRITES HOME FROM ARMY CAMP

Jewel Padgette, stationed at Camp Crockett, Augusta, Georgia, writes home to his parents: Dear Mama: I received your letter today and sure was proud to learn that you all are well. I am o. k. Mama, you asked me why I couldn't get off to come home. Well, that is not to come home, you know. I don't know myself and the one else. That is just a part of the Army.

You know some people have the idea that the Army is a rough place for a boy, but they are mistaken. You can be just what you want to be, either bad or good. Yet, we know there's always reward for those who do right, and I don't think any one should be afraid of the Army as being a rough place, for after all, it's the Army, it's the boy.

Mama, I might go to school again. They want me to go and take a mess get to, but I don't know whether I will or not. Well, I suppose by now farmers are busy getting their crops in rotation and I am proud to hear that they are. It makes me feel good to know that everybody is ready and willing to help in this war. Every man, woman and child can play some part in our national defense one way or another. So if everybody will come on and pull together, we'll make it hot for those Japs.

Good luck to all, JEWEL

LIBERTY NEWS

April 14, 1942.

Dear Editor:

Wonder how everybody is going this pretty morning. I guess the farmers all have the thumbs after so much rain. We had such a heavy rain last week. Many of us were late in getting to work. The corn is coming up. We may get a pretty good stand but King Cotton will have a tough time. We may have to plant over, but cotton seed is scarce and high. I never mind paying one dollar for planting seed, but that is all it is worth. We have the harvest going, but if I had plenty of seed I would be planting over some of this, as if some of it gets up it will not be worth much. So, you see, we are in the middle of a bad fix, or with a bad case of labor, we have a task too hard for us this year. We are all wanting to do our best but there are no hands to hire. I have had to take guess, there is no one to hire. There will have to be a change or there will not be anything to use in their project work. These boys expect to be well established in the hog business by the time they finish high school.

The following men at Mison's Cross Roads purchased pure bred hogs last week: C. M. Mison, P. C. Coar, H. L. Nolin, Duroc boar, and C. H. Mosley, Duroc gilt. These men are going to improve and increase their hogs this year by using pure bred boars and sows.

The Farm That Wouldn't Sell

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(McClure Syndicate—WNT Service)

THEN it is understood, Miss Andrews, that you will keep an eye on the place and show it to prospective buyers. I might add that in addition to your fee as caretaker, Mr. Gerrish will allow you a nominal commission if the farm is disposed of through your efforts. Lawyer John Pangburn buttoned his coat and said, "I'll be right back."

A touch on his arm arrested him. "It's rather a pity, isn't it?" Margaret Andrews questioned him. "For us this year. We are all wanting to do our best but there are no hands to hire. I have had to take guess, there is no one to hire. There will have to be a change or there will not be anything to use in their project work. These boys expect to be well established in the hog business by the time they finish high school."

JEWEL PADGETTE WRITES HOME FROM ARMY CAMP

Jewel Padgette, stationed at Camp Crockett, Augusta, Georgia, writes home to his parents: Dear Mama: I received your letter today and sure was proud to learn that you all are well. I am o. k. Mama, you asked me why I couldn't get off to come home. Well, that is not to come home, you know. I don't know myself and the one else. That is just a part of the Army.

You know some people have the idea that the Army is a rough place for a boy, but they are mistaken. You can be just what you want to be, either bad or good. Yet, we know there's always reward for those who do right, and I don't think any one should be afraid of the Army as being a rough place, for after all, it's the Army, it's the boy.

Mama, I might go to school again. They want me to go and take a mess get to, but I don't know whether I will or not. Well, I suppose by now farmers are busy getting their crops in rotation and I am proud to hear that they are. It makes me feel good to know that everybody is ready and willing to help in this war. Every man, woman and child can play some part in our national defense one way or another. So if everybody will come on and pull together, we'll make it hot for those Japs.

Good luck to all, JEWEL

New High in Ship Production

Bethlehem ship production this year will represent the greatest all-round shipbuilding output by any company in the history of the country.

Speed, speed and more speed is the constant objective; and always speed with quality, for a jerry-built ship is virtually useless in the grim tasks of maritime war.

The first Liberty ship which recently discharged supplies at a Red Sea port was built in a yard that was virtually nonexistent a year ago. A tanker was delivered in 100 days from laying of keel. A battleship will be delivered 14 months ahead of schedule.

Cargo ships are being built in less than one-half the time required in the first World War. Comparable speeding up has been achieved on other types of ships and the schedule is being constantly stepped-up.

Expanding old yards, building new ones, tripling employment in a year's time, training thousands of new men, putting every effective facility to use, adopting pre-assembly and mass production methods—all these spell tonnage and more tonnage, a steadily-mounting output of ships from Bethlehem yards.

All hands are doing their utmost for Victory, working to achieve the maximum for the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Maritime Commission, so that the "bridge of ships" shall be maintained and steadily enlarged.

COFFEE COMMUNITIES SHOW LIVESTOCK GAIN

An increase in the production of livestock and poultry is indicated among the farmers of Coffee County, according to T. E. Paden, vocational teacher who conducts group meetings among adult farmers of these communities.

The marketing of farm products through feeding to livestock intended for the market is proving profitable in this section, and farmers are now busy buying getting their seed into the soil, are increasing feed crops for higher livestock production.

Poultry growing is coming to the fore among farm products. Plenty of eggs for the home table will receive first consideration in this time when the nation's health is considered a prime factor for victory. In seasons when eggs are most plentiful and prices are low they will be increased in the family diet, replacing purchased foods where possible. This, said Fred Grimes, Weeks community farmer, "is 'marketing' eggs through the family menu on the same principle as marketing feed crops through livestock sales."
